Philosophy and Ethics provides me with an insight to the world in a whole different way. I am able to think about different situations and analyze them in different aspects alongside linking it with different religious theories and moral values. The reason for	Philosophy and Ethics allows you to be able to evaluate arguments on the big and important matters in life, and develop your own opinions. The things you learn in lessons apply to real life situations. It combines elements of history, English and choosing this subject is because it will allow me to develop essay skills as well as debating abilities when entering the world of law.	key debating skills which means it is helpful in any career or subject I will go on to do.
